

Established open-end investment fund management company UniCredit Invest

Belgrade, July 4th, 2025 – UniCredit Bank in Serbia founded a new company for the management of open investment funds called UniCredit Invest, thereby further strengthening its offer and presence on the market of financial services in Serbia. The establishment of this company represents another strategic step in the direction of improving investment solutions available to clients and developing the capital market.

Thanks to the expertise and long-term experience of UniCredit Group, one of the leading banking groups in Europe, UniCredit Invest will use the best international practices in investment management, relying on a strong local presence and understanding of the domestic market. As the founder of the company, UniCredit Bank will provide stable support and additional security to clients who decide to invest their funds through funds that will be managed by the newly founded company.

Nikola Vuletić, Chairman of the Management Board of UniCredit Bank said: "The establishment of UniCredit Invest is an important step towards expanding our services. Our goal is to provide citizens and companies with simple and transparent access to professional investment management. Relying on the strength and knowledge of UniCredit Group, as well as the professional team in Serbia, we want to build trust and long-term value for our clients."

UniCredit Invest aims to offer clients - both individuals and legal entities - professional management of open investment funds. Open investment funds with a public offering represent a collective form of investment, through which individuals and companies can invest their funds in various financial instruments, with risk diversification and professional support from professional managers. In this way, investing becomes more accessible to a wide range of citizens and investors, with the aim of achieving returns in accordance with their financial goals and risk tolerance.

UniCredit Invest will soon present the first investment funds, which will be carefully structured to suit different investor profiles and market conditions. More information will be available on the official channels of UniCredit Bank and UniCredit Invest.
