UniCredit Bank and Petroleum Industry of Serbia (NIS) extended their cooperation

UniCredit Bank and Petroleum Industry of Serbia (NIS), as leaders in their own business fields, have made an additional step in their cooperation, ensuring additional benefits for their clients. Namely, due to their successful partnership, on 26 NIS Petrol and Gazprom petrol stations UniCredit Bank's ATMs were installed allowing citizens, besides refilling the tank, also to withdraw cash at point of sale and to refill their wallets. In order to align their design to design of petrol stations, UniCredit Bank created special series of ATMs in the form of vending machines for dispensing fuel.

Nikola Vuletić, Head of Retail Division of UniCredit Bank stated: "We are very satisfied to continue our collaboration with a company such as Petroleum Industry of Serbia (NIS). By joining our forces we started this project that will allow both us and NIS to complete our offer and improve quality of services in these points of sale. We installed 26 ATMs in 17 cities, as well as on the most important international routes such as Highway Belgrade – Zagreb, Belgrade – Nis and Belgrade – Novi Sad. In this way our network was further expanded, reaching 100 ATMs and in the future we are expecting further growth."
