UniCredit & Universities Foundation opened the call for second edition of Summer School Program

UniCredit and Universities Foundation opened the call for second edition of Summer school Program for allocation of eight scholarships for attendance at a Summer School at the London School of Economics or Barcelona GSE lasting a maximum of three weeks between June and August 2016.

For scholarship in amount of EUR 1,500 can apply students enrolled at least at the third year of studies, or in a Master's program, in economics, finance, banking, management engineering, political science or law. In addition, candidates should be citizens of any of the countries where UniCredit is present, including Serbia, and students of any university in the world. Candidates can apply only online, latest by March 15th, directly via web site www.unicreditanduniversities.eu.

Scientific Committee will select eight winners and inform them about the UniCredit & Universities Foundation scholarships for Summer School Program until April 15th.
